THE HARTFORD MONUMENT.

The following motion has been received:

VENICE, CAL., Jan. 29, 1911.

In as much as Principal Job Williams says that the Hartford Gallaudet Monument is in no immediate danger of falling to pieces, I move that the Executive Committee refer the matter of repairs to the next convention, recommending that it be made a feature of the Hartford Centennial celebration in 1917, unless in the meantime the New England deaf take sufficient interest to undertake the work of repairs themselves. I further move that the Chairman of the Executive Committee ascertain the sentiment of the New England deaf on this matter.

OSCAR H. REGENSBURG.

I hereby second the above motion,
ARTHUR L. ROBERTS.

The above motion is now before the Executive Committee, and is open for discussion and amendment until further notice.

COMMITTEE ON IMPOSTORS.

Mr. J. C. Howard, of Duluth, Minn., is hereby appointed a committee of one to direct the work against the hearing impostors who prey on she public under pretense of being deaf. Mr. Howard has had considerable success in combating this evil in his own city. He will make announcements. and select his own assistants as occasion may require. FRATERNAL DELEGATES TO THE DELEVAN CONVENTION.

At the Colorado Convention last summer an invitation was exended by Dr. Dobyns to the National Association of the Deaf to send three fraternal delegates to the Convention of American Instructors of the Deaf, to be held in Delavan next summer. A resolution was adopted instructing the President to appoint three such delegates, and three alternates. In accordance with this resolution the following have been appointed:

Delegates:—A. L. Pach, New York; Mrs. J. W. Barrett, Council Bluffs, Ia., Rev. E. C. Wyand, Boston.

Alternates:—A. O. Steideman, St. Louis; Mrs Geo. F. Flick, Chicago; W. I. Tilton, Jacksonville, Ill.

These delegates, or in case of their inability to go, the alternates are requested to attend the Delavan Convention and courteously present the views of the N. A. D., and afterwards report briefly to me.

REPORT ON PROGRESS BY THE INDUSTRIAL BUREAU.

SIOUX FALLS, S. DAK., Feb. 6, 1911.

MR. OLOF HANSON,
Pres., N. A. D.
SEATTLE, WASH.

MY DEAR MR. HANSON: In accordance with your wishes, I am submitting to you herewith for your consideration my first semi-annual report of the Industrial Bureau.

Your letter asking me to accept the office of Director of the above Bureau, reached me in September, and I accepted at once, and my appointment followed a few days later. There were no reports, papers, files or any matter whatever turned over to me by Mr. Robinson, the former Director of this Bureau. Having no guide, it was necessary for me to go ahead and conduct the affairs and business of the department along lines that appealed to me and the rest of my committee. At the outset, I found it was going to be a Herculean task to take care of the correspondence of this department without a proper filing device. Knowing that the Association was short of funds, I went down inty my own pockets and bought a Shaw Walker card and letter file. I am in shape now to file 20,000 names and 5,000 letters.

With my card index system I hope in a year or two to have ready the Industrial Statistics of 75% of the deaf of America. To accomplish it, however, I must have the earnest support of the deaf and their friends throughout the country. It will also require some money. As to ways and means, I intend to take the public into my confidence by issuing a bulletin as soon as this report is approved by you. It must be indelibly impressed upon the public mind that the deaf are not a charity-seeking class of people, and the only way to educate the people of the country is to advertise and give as much publicity as possible of our ability in industrial and professional lines. We must show how much property we pay taxes on, how much of the wealth of the states we produce yearly, and how little crime the deaf are responsible for. As I said before, it will take a great amount of labor and some money to secure the statistics that I desire, in order to make a telling impression upon the public, but I feel that this committee can do it if given a free hand. I advise that the Bureau not be tied up with red tape. We are short of time, money and advertising, and I desire a free hand so that the greatest amount of work possible can be done early in the campaign. I am a believer in the old adage, "the early bird catches the first worm," and I want to add that I have found by experience that the first worms are always the best in any garden. The public in general, like the citizen from Missouri, has to be shown It is not only necessary to tell the public what we can do, but also to show them what we are capable of doing. To that end, I want to be prepared in 1913 and 1915 to open for the public's inspection, an industrial and agricultural exhibit that has never before been equaled by any one class of people. I will not be satisfied with less than 2000 exhibitors in 1913 and 5000 in 1915. The official name of the exhibit will be, The Second Industrial Exhibition and National Corn Show of the N. A. D. The lowly Indian corn which less than a century ago was considered only fit for swine, is today, as a food for man and beast, being given more attention than any other know cereal. Therefore to keep abreast of the times, and to give our deaf farmers an opportunity to display their skill, I have decided to make the next exhibit partly an agricultural one, and to give corn an important part and to offer a number of valuable premiums for the same The exhibit will be classified, and I hope to be able to offer two or more valuable premiums for each class of exhibits, also some very valuable grand prizes.

Early in December my plans were made known to the rest of the committee in a communication of which the following is a copy:—

SIOUX FALLS, S. DAK., Dec. 10, 1910.
DEAR MR.————:—

Allow me to congratulate you on being a member of this important Bureau.

I wish to state to you right now in my first communication to you that I shall expect each member to work, and work hard for the success of this Bureau. To begin with, I want suggestions and ideas as how best to proceed to secure reliable figures on industrial statistics. I wish to begin right after the first of the year, and have the figures ready in about ten months. My idea is to write to the Presidents of the State Associations and have them furnish us with industrial statistics of the members of their organizations and use their figures as a basis. Please let me have your views on this matter at once.

The next thing I wish to speak abont is the Industrial Exhibit. The feature will be continued, but under some kind of a system that will make it a success in all respects. The last exhibit, while good as a maiden effort, was a slipshod affair. Allow me to impress upon you the necessity of doing everything in a businesslike manner so that a favorable impression will be created and prove to our friends and the public in general, that the deaf have in their ranks competent business men, as well as professional men, artists and artisans. To the next exhibit I want to add a National Corn Show. This does not mean that corn alone is to be exhibited, but all kinds of agricultural products. I want to get the State Boards of Agriculture interested and have them offer prizes for the best samples of the principal commodity grown or manufactured in their respective states. I would also like to get the seedsmen of the country iuteresled.

This Bureau is without funds. Let us demand of the city that gets the next convention, a large vacant room in the business district and charge a small admission fee to the exhibit. I am also thinking of charging for space to exhibitors and advertisers. If we have a large premium list they will be willing to pay for space. This would give us some money with which to insnre the exhibitors against less by fire, and leave a small fund for our successors to begin work with and go ahead with new ideas in this important branch of the N. A. D.

Please let me hear from you at an early date, as I wish to have my first report in the hands of the President, February 1st. With the season's greetings, I am,
Fraternally,

A communication from Mr. Owen G. Carrell to you under date of December 14th, in which he suggests that this Bureau or a special committee get together an exhibit for the coming Panama Canal Exposition, was referred to this bureau for consideration late in December. The idea of an exhibit at the Exposition in 1915 is a good one, and will be acted upon when the proper time comes. We do not approve of a special committee to take charge of the 1910 exhibit. It is properly a subject for the Bureau to handle, and a special committee would simply be superfluous.

My plans have been approved by a majority of the Industrial Bureau Committee and I now place my report before you for the kind consideration of the President.

Respectfully submitted,
LYMAM M. HUNT,
Director.

CHICAGO.

The annual masquerade ball of the Pas-a-Pas Club was held at Ellis Club House, 3516 Ellis Avenue, on the 18th inst., and proved a success. The crowd was not as large as it might have been, but as some two hundred and fifty tickets were taken in there is no doubt as to the financial side. The number of maskers was small, and prizes were awarded as follows:—

Most original costume, male, Mr. ———, "Sherry"; female, "Corn Queen," Mrs. Brimble.

First most beautiful costume, male, "Uncle Sam," Mr. Johnson; female, "Daisy," Miss Wilhelm.

Second beautiful costume, male, "Soldier," Mr Sprague; female, "Rebecca," Mrs. Boss.

Funniest costume, male, Mr. ———, "Sweet Sixteen;" female, "Nigger," Mrs Carlson.

Ugliest costume, male, Mr ———, "Tramp;" female, "Old Maid," Miss ———.

Miss Tanzar, as a Scotch lassie, Mrs. Lefi, as an Indian, and Mrs. Fred Hyman, as a Spanish lady, were all dressed in native costume and received much praise.

The last number of the American Industrial Journal, so ably conducted by the redoubtable Warren Robinson, contained a number of portraits, among them that of Edward I. Bauer, formerly of North Dakota, but now a resident of Chicago. He is one of the nine typos now employed by Rand, McNally Co. He was educated in the German Lutheran School for the deaf at North Detroit, Mich., and also received one year's instruction at the School at Devil's Lake. He is part owner of a creamery at Palmyra, Wis., and owns three hundred and twenty-two acres of land in Dakota which are rented.

One Saturday afternoon, Joseph G. Parkinson, the deaf patent attorney who was "somebody" several years ago but is a "has been" these days on account of old age, sickness and other reverses, strolled into the Pas-a-Pas Club and had a chat with several of the members. To one of them he made the remark that he had always been opposed to the National College for the deaf at Washington being called "Gallaudet College," not for want of any proper respect for the Gallaudets, but because the name was both a misnomer and an injustice. It should have remained the "National College for the Deaf," so that the public would know instantly what sort of a college it was; or if it was to be named after some one, that man should have been Amos Kendall, who donated the site, erected the buildings and for several years supported the institution with his own money. "Kendall College" therefore would have been the proper name, Mr. Parkinson argued. Of course the claim is made that "Gallaudet College" is so called in honor of the immortal Thomas Hopkins Gallaudet, but infinitely few of the public are able to see it in this light.

Miss Winton, known to many Chicagoans, will be married to a young deaf man of Beardstown, Ill, this spring. His father owns a brewery and is well supplied with the coin of the realm.

Mrs. J. E. Gallaher is arranging for a pilgrimage to French Lick Springs, Ind., in the immediate future. Her husband informed your correspondent, that he hopes she will be so badly licked of those pains in her head, which have afflicted her for many years, that they will never bother her again.

Miss Buelah Chrystal shortly leaves for an extended visit to her home in Texas. She has been doing China painting in Chicago.

The Literary Circle of Pas-a-Pas Club held its regular monthly meeting in the Club's room on Saturday evening, the 25th inst. A large attendance was present with a high expectation of pleasure and enjoyment, which was forthcoming in a well-carried-out program arranged by President Garrett. Mr. Ethelbert Hunter raised the curtain with an interesting recitation of the history of Hernandez de Soto which took about an hour. The story as Mr. Hunter gave in his forcible style of delivery was a long series of blood-shedding and gold-hunting experiences of De Soto's comrades. One who was lucky enough to be present to listen to the recital of the story would regret the only missing part of DeSoto's career in America, which Mr. Hunter had intended to relate but forgot in his fervency, the Spaniards' introduction of swine into America. Mr. Jonn S. Fisher was the next called to the platform. In his inimitable style he delighted the audience with a bit of a story of an Irishman, Neal Malone, who attempted in spite of his small stature to imitate the greatness in war of his father, grandfather and great grandfather. A tailor by trade, well-liked by all, became tired of the polite how'dye and patting on the back, aspired to run into a fight with anyone who might came his way. More politeness and patting on the back disgusted him. In the course of time at suggestion of a friend he married a daughter of a butcher, the strongest and largest woman in the town, with the avowed intention of whipping her. At a ball some time after the wedding, Neal was caught dallying and flirting with a pretty damsel. After a remonstrance, Mrs. Neal came along and gathered the little fellow in one of her arms from the floor and whipped him. The battle was his first and last. The last on the program called for Mrs. Frieda Bauman Carpenter's turn. Coquelin, the French author, would like to see his piece, a monologue, "The Hat," done up that way, as our singer did, if he had known her real worth. The story is that of an old bachelor who married at last, his capitulation to Hymen resulting from a campaign of his hat at a banquet. Among the audience we noticed Mrs. Annabelle Tilley, of San Francisco, Cal., whom we all met as an old Illinoisan friend.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Frank are entertaining Mrs. Tilley in this city. Mr. Tilley was called to Cleveland, Ohio, on a business trip Mrs. Tilley's daughter, Miss Kearney, is at present attending Milligan College, at Decatur, Ill.

Callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morton Sonneborn on Grand Boulevard on Thursday, will be apt to be shown pictures and mementos of their recent visit in New York City, and will be told many things that our New York brethren should not know lest their conceits and pride be stirred by the compliments. The Sonneborns returned to Chicago well and whole about two weeks ago, thanks to our friends in the East for their great hospitality.

A party of young lady, friends twelve in number surprised Miss Beulah Christal at her home on Indiana avenue Tuesday afternoon, the 21st inst., and wished her God speed on her journey Southward to her folks near Fort Worth, Texas She left Chicago on the day following, and expects to come back in May.

A committee headed by Fred Shanisey is looking for suitable quarters for the Pas-a-Pas Club. The Club received the usual sixty-day notice to move. The present building which housed the club and many offices will be torn down for a new office skyscraper building next summer.

Mr. William W. Savles, formerly of Potsdam, N. Y., but latterly connected in an official capacity with the State School for the Deaf in Devil's Lake, North Dakota, arrived in Chicago Friday, the 24th inst., from North Dakota, and next day secured a job in the composing rooms of Rand, McNally & Co. He is one of the thirteen deaf mutes in the employment of the world-famous firm.

On Tuesday, the 28th, the citizens of Chicago will be called to cast their votes at the primary elections for aldermen and candidates for the mayoralty of the municipality. Several mayoral materials are good ones, but down on the South Side there is a man who we all honor as the Mayor of the deaf colony on the Side. He is looking complacently on the signs of spring. He may have fixed a date for the first spring meeting of his councillors on the meadow of Washington Park. The ordinances they will make will be in the shape of shots, curves, and throws of the tennis ball between the rackets. The indications are for an early session, Mr. Ernest W. Craig assures, unless the elements dispose.

The schedule of divine services and other meetings of All Angels' Mission, Chicago has been arranged and copies of the program are being distributed among the local deaf. The following is the part:

Allegheny Valley.

After a very pleasant visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Cook in McGrann, Mr. Albert Griffis returned to his home at Oberlin, O., a few days ago. Mr. Griffis greatly enjoyed meeting his old friends here, and expressed his desire to live along this beautiful valley.

A man with large roll of money in his possession successfully withstands the tests made to ascertain whether or not he was faking. Ford City authorities are still wondering, if they had the real thing or a faker in their custody on Saturday. A German, about forty to forty-five years of age, circulated around the streets and in the business houses, representing himself to be deaf and dumb, soliciting money. He met with considerable success, but appeared to meet his Waterloo, when he entered a plumbing shop, for one of the Cook boys from McCain, happened to be there. When the fellow presented his card, and Cook read it, he began talking to him with his fingers in the mute language. The fellow did not respond and got out so quickly.

Mr. Cook told a member of the Council he thought the fellow was a fraud. The councilman started out to find the Chief-of-Police, Charley Hutchison, and the latter detected his man, heading for McCain, but he was going too swift for the officer to catch up. Seeing the fellow stopping at 14th Street, evidently for a trolley car, Charley waited until the Northbound car came along and and got on. At Fourteenth Street the fellow boarded the car only to find himself "pinched." He was taken to the burgess office and sweated, but never once broke the silence by speech. Upon searching him, it was found he had three $50 bills and enough other money in his clothes to make altogether $189. It was also learned he had a trunk at the station, and he was taken there. When he opened the trunk a lot of pencils several thousands of Alphabet cards (to sell at ten cents apiece) paper and other articles street venders usually sell, was found, but nothing to prove or disprove he was not deaf and dumb, and as he had stood all the tests without speaking or uttering a sound, he was ordered to leave town at once.

But the impression still remains among the officials of the metropolis of the county that the fellow was an impostor. His name is George House. He claimed to be schooled in Germany.

Miss Carrie Finley, of Kittanning, has tendered her resignation with the Cook China Company, the same to become effective, and accepted a better position in the Pittsburg Visible Typewriter Company factory at her home town.

Orvin J. Frederick, the well-known deaf-mute in Ohio, was killed on the Allegheny Valley division of the Pennsylvania Railroad six miles north of Emlenton last Monday morning. His home is in Washingtonville, Columbia Co., Ohio That his being a deaf-mute was indirectly responsible for his death has been established, also, although there may be further inquiry along that line.

It has been learned that Frederick arrived at Kennerdell from Pittsburg on Friday, and went to Coal City to visit friends. He remained until Monday, when he went to Brandon, stating he expected to go to Foxburg, and take the Baltimore & Ohio train for Butler and make his way back to his home. At Brandon it is said that he informed the operator that he wanted to go to Emlenton, and visit a friend by the name of Newton before he started back to Ohio. He boarded passenger train No. 76 at 849, and left the train at Rockland. It is believed he became confused in the name of the stations, as he had written upon a small pad the fact Newton was employed as a pumper near Rockland or Emlenton. He had evidently started to walk to Emlenton and had been on the railroad track half a hour for his watch stopped at 9 41 a few minutes after one of the sections of the passenger train passed the point where the body was found about 11 o'clock by the crew of an extra freight moving south, in charge of conductor Mock. It is thought the mute was struck by either the second or third section of the passenger train. The body was about three feet from the outside rail with the head toward the river. Both hands were thrown backward and there was every indication thas the mute had been struck by the train and thrown some distance. His cap was found about ten feet south of the spot where the body lay, and a pair of overshoes he had wrapped in a paper and was carrying were lying about twenty feet north of the cap. The mute's skull was crushed and a deep gash entered from above the right eye backward to the crown of the head.

The body was removed to Oil City on the instructions of the coroner who went to Wood Hill The father of the deaf man was notified by telegraph of the accident.

J. K Robb has arrived in this territory from Greensburg to accept a position. He has returned from a two days' visit in Turtle Creek He was accompanied by his son, Harry, who will stay with him here. Joshua Finley a practical painter of Vandergrirt, who came home to Kittanning last December was taken very sick, but under his doctor's care, he has rapidly recovered.

Joe O. Bailie, of Hite, has accepted a very good position at the American Aluminum Company at New Kensington.

The Pittsburg Society for the advancement of the Deaf has decided to enter the contest of the Pittsburg Gazette Times for the Grand prize of $1,000 00, or any of the prizes offered for the benefit of the Home for Blind, Aged and Infirm Deaf-Mutes, located at Doylestown, Pa.

To our friends of Western Philadelphia and Eastern Ohio to influence your friends to save coupons and send them Rev. B. R. Allabough, 465 Ella Street, Wilkinsburg Station, Pittsburg, Pa.

The contest began January 25th and will close April 30th. So please do the best you can for the good cause. Hope that there will be great success to win the contest.

THE value of military training in schools and universities is receiving considerable attention from the newspapers throughout the country. It is the consensus of opinion that such training is of more general benefit than athletic work. In a letter to President James of the University of Illinois, after reviewing 1,400 cadets on Illinois Field, President Taft writes as follows:—

"We are all in favor of college athletics," he wrote, "but one of the defects of athletics is the tendency to confine work to those who are naturally best adapted to it, while the great student body takes no active part in the games.

"This is not true of military training that comes from the organization and maintenance of a school regiment."

Such a statement from the head of the Nation is deserving of all the thoughtful attention which it is receiving. President Taft emphasizes the necessity of training and development for all, rather than confining the work to bringing to excellence the native superiority of a few along the particular and separate specialties to which they are naturally adapted.

Having noted the results of Military Training at Fanwood, through a number of years, we are able to vouch for its beneficial influence upon the development of both mind and body. It takes all pupils, brings them to a high standard of alert attentiveness and gives them an approximately equal elasticity of gait and erectness of carriage. It is the foe of the shuffling feet and the destroyer of the slouchy habit. It promotes activity of mind and exhiliarates and stimulates the entire physical being. It begets pride in personal appearance and engenders a spirit of loyalty to Alma Mater. It instils into the minds of all the necessity of prompt obedience to constituted authority, and those who have won the posts of petty officers it endows with a sense of responsibility that strenghtens the resolution and fairly radiates with salutary influences.

AMONG the deaf of New York City there are a legion who cherish with gratitude the memory of the Abbe de l'Epee, and several will go to Paris and help celebrate the two hundredth annivesary of his birth. The World's Congress idea has made a hit in New York, and eight deaf-mutes have announced their determination to cross the Atlantic and participate in the sessions that will demonstrate the wonderful progress made in the education of the deaf since the time De l'Epee met those deaf-mute sisters and decided to lead them from the thraldom of ignorance into the happiness of spiritual and intellectual enlightenment.

IT is probable that the Empire State Association of the Deaf will hold a convention in Rochester this summer. It is up to the deaf of Rochester to develop local interest, as this year's meeting promises to be a big one.

BALTIMORE.

Rev. D. E. Moylan, the popular and highly esteemed pastor of the Methodist Deaf-Mute Mission, gave an interesting and instructive talk about his trip to Colorado Springs last Summer, in the Sunday school room of his church last Thursday night.

Rev. J. A. Branflick returned home last Thursday evening after a three weeks tour through part of Virginia, the Eastern shore of Maryland and Delaware.

Mr. Louis Kampe, who has been suffering with tuberculosis for the past nine years, is now very low at a local hospital. He is a member of Rev. Moylan's church and he often goes to the hospital to comfort him in his last moments.

A young lady teacher of the Talladega (Ala.) Deaf School, whose name we forget, was an interested visitor at the Methodist Church several Sundays ago.

Mr. Philip Gehb is spending the winter in South Carolina, where he has been since last October. He will return this Spring.

Mrs. J. A. Branflick was laid up with a severe case of rheumatism for a few days, but soon recovered under the treatment of a skilled physician.

The Members of the Baltimore Society of the Deaf gave a fine supper, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Krastel.

Mr. Stephen Sandebeck, who is gaining fame as an athlete, recently took part in the 10-mile Marathon race and received a medal.

Mr. Chas Paulus had the misfortune to lose his beloved father by death about two weeks ago. Mr. Paulus has a large circle of friends who sympathize with him in his sad bereavement.

Mrs. Maggie Schuman, of Salisbury, Md., was in this city to attend the funeral of her mother, who died early in February, at the advanced age of 80 years.

Mr. Herbert Leitch, of near Annapolis, Md., is now permanently located in this city. He has secured a steady job in a shoe-factoy.

Mr. Harry Ewing of Havre De Grace, Md., was a visitor at the M. E. church Sunday evening. He had just arrived from Frederick on a visit to the Maryland School for the Deaf. He reports everybody well & everything moving along smoothly. Mr. Jonathan Plowman, of Perrymun, was also at the M. E. Church the same evening.

Mr. H. S. Anderson is very happy, and has gotten a good job as pressman in one of the large seed houses and earns good wages.

A baby a boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Bomhoff Monday, February 6th. Both mother and child are reported getting along finely.

The members of the Methodist Deaf-Mute Mission, of which Rev. D M. Moylan is the pastor are planning for the erection of a handsome church edifice. Rev. James P. Wilson, treasurer of the advisory board announces the collections and promised contributions now amount to $2.000. The sum needed is $10,000. Mr. Philip J. Gebb, a highly esteemed deaf-mute member of the church donated $1,000 in cash, which is now in bank with the other money and drawing interest. Mr. Gehb will give more if necessary. Dr. J. C. Nicholson, the president of the advisory board stated that plans for the new church will be made public within the next week or ten days. No site has as yet been selected, but it is expected the church will be erected in one of the residential sections, probably in Northeast Baltimore.

COUNTRY BOY, JR.

Rochester, N. Y.

Thursday evening, a very pleasant entertainment under the auspices of Ephphatha Society was much enjoyed.

A surprise party was well entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Borinstein, of 596 Dewey Avenue. A bountiful supper was served in the dining-room, and games were enjoyed. Those who enjoyed the evening were Mr. Wm. Heffernan, Addie Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Stein and their daughter, Mrs. Chas. Colgan and her son, Mr. Wm. Hughes, Jr., Mr. Sylvester Twansky, Miss Lottie Kennedy and her two sisters and one brother, Mr. Clifford Peterson, Mr. Samuel Bliss, Mr. Chas. Yewigg, Mr. De Young, the writer, Mary Smith, and the rest can't be recalled.

Mrs. Cornelia Pulver was the guest of her son, the writer and daughter, Mrs. E. E. Russell for a couple of weeks.

Mr. Kowald, of Auburn, has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Goodison.

Mr. Chas. Ziegler, of Warsaw, was in this city for a visit of a couple of days.

L. D. P.

GALLAUDET COLLEGE.

In our last week's letter, we omitted mention of an accident to Hans Grace, '11. At the close of the public meeting of the C. W. L. S., Grace, who is official photographer, was called upon to take flash-light photographs of the participants in the program. Owing to some mistake in the use or composition of the flash-light powder, when it was lighted, there was an explosion that shook the chapel and brought everyone running. Particles of the lamp struck Grace in the cheek making a deep gash, while the explosion tore the palm of his hand very badly. Fortunately no one else was hurt and the injured was immediately carried to a city hospital, where he remained until the following Wednesday. He then turned up on the Green with bandaged cheek and arm in a sling.

The most important social event of the third term, the Football Dance, was pulled off with great success on the twenty-second. There was the usual large crowd—not too large nor too small, but just right. The evening, too, was perfect. From eight till eleven the dancers whirled merrily around. At nine-thirty a halt was called for refreshments—the familiar ice-cream and cakes that have from time immemorial been served at Gallaudet dances. Thanks are due the committee for the way in which every thing was carried out. The aforesaid bunch consisted of H. E. Grace, '11 (Chariman), L. P. Jones, '12, C. O. H. Linde, 13, A. W. Patterson, '14, F. G. Fancher, P. C. Mesdames J. B. Hotchkiss and C. R. Ely acted as patronesses.

Friday evening, February 24th, Professor Day entertained the students with a talk on the work of the Southern Industrial Relief Association is doing among the mountains of Kentucky. The Professor enlivened his discourse with mention of the feuds and quarrels of the Kentuckians. He spoke of the characteristic Southern hospitality, relating the story of a traveller who stopped at the shack of a Kentucky mountaineer one day as dinner was ready. The mountaineer invited the traveller in to dinner. On the table was a plate of potatoes—that was all. The Kentuckian said, "Stranger, take a 'tater. Take two 'taters. Take neah all the 'taters."

At the close of the lecture, the speaker invited his audience to inspect an array of baskets, home-woven cloth, etc., made by the mountain people. All swarmed onto the stage and for a few minutes, the air was full of exclamations of delight and surprise.

A big crowd of college students attended an Oyster Supper and Entertainment at the Church of the Good Shepherd Saturday evening.

We will not attempt to describe the evening in detail, as the Washington correspondent of the JOURNAL will undoubtedly do that. But by all reports, a good time was had by every one.

The basketball team wound up a fine season Saturday afternoon by defeating Mount St. Joseph's College by a good margin—30 to 13. The game was marred by unnecessarily rough playing, Marylander, being the chief offenders while Gallaudet was little better. In the first half, the home quiut had no difficulty at all in keeping the lead. Hower made the first goal in less than fifteen seconds, after a pretty pass. In the second period, the Marylanders came back strong, getting eleven points to the home team's fifteen. This half was marked by a long shot by center McGrath of Mt. St. Joseph's. Captain Arras of Gallaudet also tossed several neat baskets.

Battiste played his usual good game, overtopping his opponent easily. Hower scored well in spite of his playing guard. For Mount St. Joseph's, Captain Scallon and Barton did the best work.

The details:—

Arras	L. F.	Scallon
Craven, Roller	R. F.	Citrons
Battiste	C.	McGrath
Hower	L. G.	Clark
Durian	R. G.	Barton

Field goals—Arras (3), Roller (2), Battiste (5), Hower (4), Scallon, Citrons, McGrath, Barton (2). Goals from fouls—Arras (2), Scallon (3). Fouls—Gallaudet 4, Mt. St. Joseph's 7. Referees Messrs Brain, St. Joseph's and Birck, Gallaudet. Timers—McCarthy and Harris. Scorers:—Wick and Farquhar.

Upon summing up the basketball season we find that of the ten match games Gallaudet lost five and won five. Gallaudet made 316 points in all to her opponents' 357. She won all practice games easily by large scores. Arras made the most field goals, netting 37 in all. Battiste leads in number of goals per game, having an average of five goals a game to his credit. Arras was the only man to play though every game. Hower though a guard made an average of three goals a game. On the whole, the season has been a good one. The Varsity quint has re-elected Captain Arras, '12, for another season. His selection is certain to be ratified by the Athletic Association.

It is really truly surprising to note how much little Frederick Hennery Hughes is in the public eye nowadays. 'Tis true that he is—or was—basket ball manager, but that does not by any means explain why the fellows pay him so much attention. Nay, nay, Pauline, 'tis something else. Methinks it must be a purely natural jealousy on their part of Fred Hennery's unparalleled success with the fair sex. We ourselves, Ted, must confess our admiration of her.

Manager Tom L. Anderson, '12, has prepared for next year's football team a schedule that makes a fellow's eyes glisten with coming enjoyment. Opening with Mount St. Mary's and winding up with our ancient foe, Maryland Agricultural College, the schedule is highly satisfactory to the wearers and the supporters of the Buff and Blue.

The schedule:—

Oct. 7—Mt. St. Mary's College, at Emmitsburg, Md.
Oct. 14—Mt. St. Joseph's, at Kendall Green.
Oct. 21—Baltimore City College, at Kendall Green.
Oct. 28—Mt. Washington Club, at Baltimore, Md.
Nov. 4—Johns Hopkins, at Baltimore.
Nov. 11—St. John's College, at Annapolis, Md.
Nov. 18—Washington College, at Kendall Green.
Nov. 25—Maryland Aggies, at College Park, Md.

NEW YORK.

News items for this column, should be sent direct to the DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL Station M, New York.

A few words of information in a letter or on a postal card is sufficient. We will do the rest.

The masquerade ball of the Newark Society of Deaf-Mutes, in Arion Hall, Newark, outclassed all the previous records of that organization in the line of public entertainment.

It was notable for the number of those in fancy costume, for the good order maintained, for the very large number of attendants, and for the general enjoyment of every one who attended. According to the tickets taken in at the door, 783 persons were present.

Chairman Cascella deserves a medal for the successful outcome of his efforts, and President Black, who was distingnished by the handsomest badge that the writer has seen in many years, is to be congratulated on having led his Society into the line of top-notch entertainers.

If it were possible, a full list of those in fancy costume would be printed, but the masks hid their indentity, so nothing can be said, except that there were a good many strikingly original costumes, with the usual line of clowns, yellow kids and a Martha Washington.

The hall is a splendidly equipped and spacious one, occupying two floors, the top floor for dancing and the one beneath for refreshments, cloak rooms, etc.

The judges of costumes for which prizes were awarded, were Dr. Fox, Mr. Wilbur Bowers and Mr. Robert B. McGinnis, and three hearing gentlemen. A list of prize winners was promised, but has not come to the JOURNAL yet.

The floor manager was Mr. Michael Whalen, and his assistant Mr. John Donavan. They did good work, and the floor was constantly filled with devotees of Terpsichore.

The floor committee, which had a hard time keeping the big crowd of spectators from the dancing spaces, was composed of Messrs. E. Manning, A. Balmuth, W. Atkinson, G. Redman, J. Golden, H. Daubner, I. Lowe, F. Bouton and W. Fricke.

The following composed the reception committee: Messrs. M. Moses, F. Hering, J. Newcomb, E. Heller, T. Smith, G. Theile, W. Waterbury, G. Rigg, W. Gaskill, L. Heuser, I. Worcester.

The officers of the New Jersey Deaf-Mutes' Society are: J. M. Black, President; A. Knipe, Vice-President; R. M. Robertson, Rec. Secretary; J. B. Ward, Fin. Secretary; C. Cascella, Treasurer; W. Dietrich, Marshal.

To the arrangement committee great credit is due, for upon them devolved the responsibility for the success or failure of the ball. That they succeeded far beyond anticipation is conceded by every one who attended. Here is the roll of honor: Charles Cascella, Chairman, John B. Ward, Paul Kees, Arthur L. Thomas, Gus Matzart, Julius Aaron, Henry Hester.

A charming reception and dinner was tendered the officers of the Xavier Ephpheta Society by Miss T. McCarthy, Washington's Birthday afternoon and evening, at the handsome Colonial residence of her family, Bently Avenue, Jersey City Heights. The cordiality and hospitality of the hostess and her mother and sisters was in keeping with the surroundings, reminding one of the Colonial times when the immortal George used to be entertained by the dames of that day. Of Colonial design, all the room of the house bore a hint in Washington's time the builders built well and their aim was to make home life cosey and comfortable.

Included with the Ephpheta officers was the Rev. Moderator of the society, Father McCarthy, and although he had planned to connect with the six-thirty Newark Special, somehow or other it was past seven ere he managed to escape the breastworks and then his line of travel led to New York town.

At six o'clock the guests sat down to dinner, the table being elaborately arranged with flowers, and the national colors. The menu embraced five courses, starting with consomme, and ending with coffee. The favors came with the ice cream, dainty little flags that protruded from cherries on top of each portion of the frozen viand. The service was excellent and the guests evidenced their appreciation of the repast by the hearty appetites displayed.

The evening was given over to games of an amusing sort. Father McCarthy's little Chinese spaniel, which he exhibited from inside his coat, created no end of laughter. Treasurer Sylvester Fogarty and Secretary Joseph Smith also entertained the company with their original ideas. At tailing the donkey, President O'Brien nosed out Mr. Schmidt by a fraction of half a hair's width, and won a green tie, Miss Katherine Murry taking first place and the ladies' prize.

Between spells when there was a lull to the merry-making, Brother "TAD" invited the gentlemen to his den, where Perfectos were passed around. TAD are his initials, he claiming no connection with the well-known artist and sporting authority of the Hearst newspapers. But when it comes to points on stock and market quotations, or on "Who's Who in Wall Street," Mr. Thos. A. Drumm is there ahead of the sporting authority, being an expert in writing up stock and market quotations.

No one enjoyed the evening more than Mrs. McCarthy, a grand old Irish lady, who has passed her seventieth milestone, but despite her years is still active, and happy with all but one of her children at home with her.

Those concerned, besides the Rev. Moderator were: Mrs. John F. O'Brien, Miss Katherine Murray, Miss Annie Ryan, Miss Margaret Keogh, Miss M. Power, Miss Mary and Helen McCarthy, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Drumm, Mr. S. J. Fogarty, and Mr. Joseph Schmidt.

Rev. Thomas Galvin concluded on Sunday last at St. Joseph's Church, Newark, N. J., a week's Mission to the Catholic deaf of all New Jersey. While the attendance was not large throughout the week the good Father, who is enthusiastic in his endeavors for the uplift of the deaf, was in no way discouraged. Sunday's attendance was the best of the week, a number of his deaf friends from across the river journeying from New York. The exercises consisted of a sermon, in which Father Galvin admonished his hearers on the necessity of being loyal to their faith, and avoiding ways that tended to detract them from fulfilling their religious duties. Benediction concluded the sermon, after which Father Galvin distributed mementos of the Mission.

Saturday evening, February 25th, witnessed the finish of the Pinochle Tournament among the League of Elect Surds, when Bros. Nuboer and Kahn, who were tied for first place, engaged in five games to see who would be champion of the League of Elect Surds, and win first prize. Both players are experts at the game. The finish was very exciting, as both won two games, and the fifth and final was to decide the winner. Bros. Francis W. Nuboer won, and has been awarded the $5.00 prize, and Bros. Kahn the $2.50 prize.

Josephine Herrmann Little, the infant daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. Theodore A. Little, Jr., of Maplewood, New Jersey, was christened by the Rev. Dr. John Chamberlain on Saturday evening, February 18th. Many friends, both deaf and hearing, were present, and they will all remember the joyous and festive occasion for many days to come. Mr. and Mrs. Little have three children. All can hear and are unusually healthy, strong and beautiful little girls.

Rev. C. Orvis Dantzer delivered an illustrated lecture in the Guild Room of St. Ann's Church on Saturday evening, and on Sunday conducted the afternoon services and preached a fine sermon. Mr. Dantzer is quite a favorite in New York and we want him to come often.

Do not forget the dramatic reading which will be rendered by Louis A. Cohen, on Saturday evening, March 11th, under the auspices of the Hebrew Congregation of the Deaf, at Horton Hall, 142 West 125th Street. Tickets are 25 cents. See advertisement on last page for particulars.

Samuel Frankenheim left New York on Monday night for a tour of two or more months. He will make stops at Pittsburg, Columbus, St. Louis, Los Angeles, San Francisco, and return by the Isthmus of Panama.

Harry Zerwick, formerly of this city, is now a permanent fixture in the Boston population. He is married and has two little daughters, named Marcia and Helen Riva, respectively.

While working in a Brooklyn cabinet shop, shoveling sawdust into the furnace, a blast of flame burned Louis Davis' face quite badly. He was promptly treated and is now almost well again.

Rev. B. A. Elzas, Rabbi of the Hebrew Congregation of the Deaf, has been suffering with blood-poison on his right foot, but at present writing is out of danger.

PHILADELPHIA.

News items for this column should be sent to James S. Reider, 1538 North Dover Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Mrs. Persis S. Bowden was the victim of a "near surprise" party on her birthday, which was also the birthday of the Father of Our Country. Mrs. Bowden had been invited to a hot roast beef sandwiches supper by her sister, Mrs. George T. Sanders, and upon noticing signs of a party had been told that the "Mt. Airy Girls" had been asked to come for a quiet social evening.

As the invited guests arrived by two's and three's and five's and the rooms filled, Mrs. Bowden was surprised, indeed. The evening was passed in jolly games until the tall hall clock solemnly and inexorably warned all that the hour was late. A light collation was served, Mrs. Bowden received some pretty and useful gifts as well as beautiful flowers.

Those present besides the Sanders' family were: Mrs. C. O. Dantzer, Mrs. H. W. Syle, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Breen, Mrs. Robert Underwood, Mr. Washington Houston, Mrs. Viola King, the Misses Emma Shields, Gertrude Parker, Mannie Hess, Susie McKinney, Minnie Housekeeper, Maltilda O'Neill, Helen Nickel, Maggie Laird, Jeannette King, Elizabeth Peiffer, Alice Donohue, Helena Bowden, Messrs. J. A. McIlvaine and Joseph Donohue.

Many others unable to be present, sent regrets.

Mrs. Bowden desires to thank through the JOURNAL, the many kind friends in New England and other places who remembered her with souvenir birthday cards.

We are pleased to report that Rev. B. R. Allabough passed his first canonical examination for the Priesthood on Saturday, 25th of February. He will go to Cleveland next Saturday to preach.

On Saturday evening, 25th of February, a Fancy Dress or Masquerade Party was given in All Souls' Hall for the benefit of the flower and household funds of the Church. It was largely attended and hugely enjoyed by all. A good variety of characters were represented and some were especially realistic representations. All were masks which made it appear a masquerade instead of a fancy dress party. Following is a list of the characters represented:—James T. Young, Policeman; Joseph S. Rodgers, University Student; Mrs. E. Rigg, A Sporty Irish Boy; Mrs. Minnie Housekeeper, Empress Josephine; Mrs. C. O. Dantzer, Japanese Lady; Miss Helena L. Bowden, a Winsome Gypsy; Miss Helen Nickel, an Old Fashioned Woman; Geo. T. Sanders, Jumper Girl; Chas. M. Pennell, United States Flag Costume; Mrs. Thos. Breen, Dominie; Mrs. H. E. Stevens, Scotch Woman; Mrs. E. Rival, Spanish Girl; Miss F. Ahrens, Indian Squaw; Miss Dora Kintzel, Mother Hubbard; Miss F. Stuckert, Ghost; Mrs. Warrington, Dutch Woman; Mrs. D. Paul, a Lady of Quality; Miss J. King, Greek Lady; Howard Scribner, Indian Chief; Henry P. Friemel, Fenian; Chas. W. Waterhouse, Grandmother; Miss F. Lynch, Harem Lady; Mrs. G. T. Sanders, A. Turkish (Towel) Lady; Wm. H. Lipsett, Dutchman.

The judges of the costumes were Rev. J. H. Keiser, Mrs. M. J. Syle, Daniel Paul, Washington Houston and J. S. Reider, and they had quite a task to pick the winning cotumes, there being only two prizes. They finally decided on Miss Elizabeth S. Ahrens, of Reading, Pa., and Mr. Henry P. Friemel, the former getting a gold framed picture and the latter a brass calendar stand. This decision seemed to have won general approval.

Mrs. G. T. Sanders and Miss Helena L. Bowden, the committee, deserve credit for this successful and enjoyable event, the first held here in many years, and it is safe to say that it will not be the last. Already there is talk of holding another such party at the end of the year, if not sooner.

Tuesday evening, February 21st, the Men's Club of All Souls' Church enjoyed its second annual luncheon smoker in the hall of the church. The first celebration was a banquet at Boothby's Hotel, but this year it was decided to try the innovation of a supper in the church, the home of the club, and it was so well enjoyed that it may be tried again next year. Admission to the supper was limited to the members and a few guests this year, but this also will probably be different the next time and a certain number of outsiders admitted. Those attending this supper were Rev. C. O. Dantzer, Rev. Dr. Louis C. Washburn, Mr. A. L. Manning, and Messrs. Geo. T. Sanders, Daniel Paul, Chas. M. Pennell, J. J. Reider, H. F. Stevens, H. J. Haight, J. T. Young, Chas. H. Sharrar, J. Q. Hahn, A. McGhee, H. Scribner, R. Ormrod, D. E. Wilson, Thos. E. Jones, R. M. Underwood, J. S. Rodgers, M. C. Fortescne, C. Partington, Wm. McKinley, R. R. Robertson, Thos. Delp, A. Leitch, R. Ferguson, H. Blum, F. Moeller, M. Higgins and W. H. Lipsett.

After the supper addresses were made by Rev. Mr. Dantzer, Dr. Washburn, Mr Manning, Mr. Reider, Mr. Lipsett, Mr. Sanders. The smoker was in progress then. Mesdames Dantzer, Paul, Lipsett, Pennell and Reider acted as the hostesses for the Club and served the luncheon, which consisted of oyster stew, fried oysters, boiled ham, pickles, olives, celery, ice-cream, fancy cakes, and coffee. Cigars were passed around.

On the 25th of February Miss Margaret McGhee, daughter of Mrs. Annie McGhee and William Hallam were married at the newly-bought home of the bride. The ceremony, which was a quiet affair, with only the immediate members of the two families present, was performed by Rev. John Keiper, of Mount Pisach Methodist Episcopal Church.

The bride was gowned in a costume of cream colored satin, embroidered with silver and trimmed Dutchesse laces. The bridesmaid was her sisters, Esther McGhee, and she wore silk gray steel embroidered with flowers. Alexander S. McGhee was the best man.

Rev. John H. Keiser, of New York, treated the members of the Clerc Literary Association to "An Evening with Poe," last Thursday evening, 23d of February. He gave three recitations from the works of the great poet that were much enjoyed. Mr. Keiser returned to New York on Friday, and came back again on Saturday evening following. Sunday morning, 26th, he lectured to the inmates at the Home in Doylestown, and in the afternoon officiated at All Souls' Church a large congregation attending.

Mr. Simon Mundheim, of New York, was a visitor here on Sunday, on his way home from Washington, D. C., whither he had gone on business.

Beginning with Ash Wednesday March 1st, Rev. Mr. Dantzer purposes to give an illustracted address every Wednesday evening during Lent. The first subject will be Judas. These addresses are expected to be very interesting and the Episcopal deaf should make it a point to attend the services.

GENEVA, N. Y.

Now comes a little deaf mute artist of this city, by the name of Max Larzelere, who has shown remarkable ability in oil paintings, since the recent demise of our lost friend and born artist, Mr. Francis Marion Tuttle (R. I. P.) who is still very much missed by a large class of his friends. Mr. Larzelere is an ex-student of the Western New York School for the Deaf. Just now he is painting a handsome picture preparatory for Professor Westervelt's birthday, which comes on the 15th March.

Mrs. John L. Connerton received a door prize of five dollars, as the result of a lucky number at a moving picture show Christmas week.

Miss Birdie Cosgrove, of Clifton Springs, who has been a steady worker at a Sanitarium up there for ten years, had Mrs. John L. Connerton as her guest for two days the other week. She also entertained Miss Garvey and Mrs. Bews, of Geneva, and Miss Nellie Rogers, of Syracuse.

Miss Mayme Garvey gave a sleigh ride party to a few friends here last week. After a ride round the city for two hours, the party returned to Miss Garvey's residence where refreshments were served. Those present as also in the joy ride were: Mr. and Mrs. John L. Connerton, Mr. and Mrs. John Bews, Miss Mayme Garvey, and Max Larzelere.

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Connerton were in Rochester last Sunday, to be present at the meeting of the Ephpheta Society, but before they did Mr. and Mrs. John Francis kindly invited them to dinner and also to tea in the evening.

Mrs. Francis M. Tuttle contemplates taking an Eastern trip some time during next Summer.

Let all of us Genevans and the Flower City deaf start up talking as to where we are to have an annual outing this summer. It would be many times worth having Watkins Glen again this year, although it has been rumored that Charlotte is expected for the next outing.

[February 25, 1911.—The stork graciously left a wee bit of humanity at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Hoy, Mt. Healthy, O., on the evening of the 16th inst. Its weight was eleven pounds and was named Custer. It was the fourth child added to the happy home—two boys and two girls. Two days after the child's birth, the Death Angel claimed and bore it away in its bosom to realms above, thus turning joy into sorrow in the home. The parents will have the sincere sympathy of their many friends over the loss. The death of the child was due to incomplete heart action.

Mr. Hoy is still engaged in farming, poultry raising, and has added dairying in a small way to his several occupations. He has nine cows which he is grading and expects in due course of time to have a herd of pure-bred Guernseys. Success to him.

The following was an item in Thursday evening's Dispatch:

LIMA—Mary Rogers, a pretty young girl, of twenty years, a deaf-mute, daughter of Mrs. John Notestine, of this city, is mysteriously missing, and her mother has appealed to the press and police to locate the girl. She left home Sunday afternoon.

The lady spoken of left school here two or three years ago.

Down in Cincinnati, there is some friendly rivality among the deaf bowlers, and two Clubs have been formed, the Andersons, which by the way is an old time Literary Association, and the St. Xavier's.

The two teams contested for the supremacy, Saturday evening last, at Jansen's Alleys, Covington, Kentucky, with the following results:

Miss Clora Lamson went over to Springfield, Saturday, and attended the sauerkraut supper and social given at Mrs. Meridian's home in the evening. Quite a number of the deaf of the city partook of the feast and other enjoyments prepared for the evening. Others out of town there were Mr. and Mrs. Willie Hines, and Mrs. Lida Hines, of Jeffersonville. A couple of cakes were auctioned off and brought a good sum. The whole affair brought for the Home over seven dollars. Miss Lamson was the guest over night of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Redington.

While the Springfield deaf were indulging in kraut and pork, those of Dayton had an affair in their town at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Taylor, though of a different nature. 'Twas a Box Social under the auspices of the Advance Society. Boxes of all shapes and sizes were auctioned off to the highest bidder, regardless of their contents and weight. However they all contained something good for the innerman, so all got their money's worth. A large cake in which was hidden a quarter, was sliced up and sold at five cents apiece. Mrs. Henry Mundary baked the cake and W. Hmileuski contributed the quarter. Mrs. James H. Smith was the lucky one to find the silver in her piece. She turned it over to the proceeds, which netted $23.40 for the Home.

Mr. R. H. Atwood received a couple of crates of tomatoes last week from Mr. Frank C. Reitman, who last fall moved down upon a fifteen acre tract near Miami, Fla., upon which he has gone into the garden truck business. He was among the first to send several hundred crates of tomatoes north. Some of the friends of Mr. Atwood have received samples of the fruit, and as one of those favored, we can say without hesitation they were fine. We wish Mr. Reitman success in his new venture.

Instead of a gentleman and lady, it was two of the latter, Misses Drugan and Rodman, who went up to the Home and entertained the residents last Sunday with religious talks.

The quarantine at the Clum residence was raised last Saturday afternoon, and on Monday Mr. Clum received a hearty greeting from his associates in the bindery. Lacking a day, he had been a prisoner four weeks.

Miss Anna Hoeffler, for some years a teacher at the school here, severed her connection with it yesterday. Next Tuesday she is to be married. In her honor a thimble party was given Wednesday afternoon, at the home of Miss L. May Greener assisted by Misses Long and Hedrick. The guests were the lady teachers and officers of the school. Besides doing a great deal of sewing for the bride-to-be, the members indulged in a guessing contest of pictures of famous historical personages of the country. The decorations of the rooms were suggestive of Washington's birthday, one object in particular must have been interesting to the guest of honor. This was a miniature bride and groom on the mantel in the parlor ready to go through the odeal of being married. A dainty luncheon was served.

Washingto's birthday anniversary was observed at the school with appropriate exercises and closed with an entertainment in the evening, prepared by the committee, Mr. Schory, Miss Holfield and Miss Branigan of the play "An Angel in an Ulster." This had been given several times before and yet served to interest all who saw it. All those who performed did their parts well. A deafening storm of applause went up as the curtain rung down on the Tableau, "Washington Crossing the Delaware."

Recently another fellow pretending to be deaf and dumb struck Cleveland, O., and was restored to hearing after several application persuasions. His name, John Hall, alias Percy Horne. He was provided with a type-written subscription blank setting forth that he desired to enter a deaf school and wished money to do so. He had secured about $2 when the Chamber of Commerce got on to him. In the place of Mrs. Elmer Bates, the regular interpreter who was then sick, Mr. David Friedman was called in to determine the man's deafness. When interrogated the man refused to spell or sign, but wrote on a pad that he had lost his hearing and speech only two years ago, and had had no opportunity to learn the signs. He gave Scotland as his home. That typhoid fever attacked him in Arkansas and that the bacilli was still in him and to prove it seized Mr. Friedman's hand to feel his hot cheek as a proof of his sickness. (This is a trick of the clever profession to make people get away from them and let them go.) The Chamber of Commerce was told that the fellow was not believed to be a deaf-mute, but a professional beggar and that he was begging seven months ahead as the schools do not open till September also that the schools would not admit him as he had no guardian who would stand good for him. The man was to be arrested at once, but a delay was made so as to secure more evidence against the fellow. He was handed over to the Health Officer and taken to the City Hospital. While confined there he made several attempts to escape without success. Meanwhile the Chamber of Commerce communicated with the hospital authorities of the Arkansas town. The reply was that he was deaf, but denied that he had typhoid fever there. Moreovor they added that he was wanted in the town for robbing a cash register of $45.

The Associated Charities swore out a warrant for his arrest, and when his case came up in Police Court, Mrs. Elmer Bates was called as interpreter. To her the man did not act like a deaf-mute—i. e, deaf-mutes always look up and scrutinize persons and show a studious appearance. This the man did not do, but kept looking down in a dodging manner. When Judge Gannon was told of this, he ordered the fellow into another room for examination. Here Mrs. Bates orally spoke to him several times, and then suddenly the clogging in his throat gave away and in a hoarse voice he uttered: "Yes I can hear and speak." Every one in the room seemed dumbfounded, or as if a corpse had just arisen from its coffin among them.

The fellow as an excuse for his action said he was subject to chronic appendicitis which prevented him from making an honest living and found pretending to be deaf and dumb as the easiest method for a livehood. He added that the Cleveland hospital surgeons were about to operate on him a day before his arrest for appendicitis and that herefused to allow it, fearing that under the inflence of chloroform his voice would betray him.

Mrs. Bates gave him a good lecture, making it clear what great injustice he was doing the deaf. The Judge also scored him and sent him to the Warrensville Reformatory, where the city will relieve him of his appendicitis and let us hope this will also cure him of feigning deaf again.

The Cleveland Leader of recent date had this. Mr. Neillie let it be known is deaf:—

"Charles R. Neillie, city entomologist, declares the apples orchards to be planted at correction and infirmary farms will make the best paying municipal department in the city.

"Planting is to be started in the spring. Eventually the orchards will cover 100 acres. Each tree will be forty feet from its neighbor. In between small fruit trees are to be planted, and corn will fill up the rest of the ground not used.

"When the apple trees have reached their full growth the small fruit trees will be taken out. The trees will be sprayed and the ground cultivated.

"At Sandusky apple orchards have netted as high as $1,500 per acre, according to Neillie. The average earning per year is $300. When the city has its 100-acre orchard Neillie expects it to earn something like $100,000 per year."

The Cleveland Association of the Deaf enjoyed a masquerade party at the Goodrich House last Saturday evening. About ninety deaf were present. The characters assumed were various and interesting, many prizes, which had been donated were awarded. Pineapple, ice cake, coffee and wafers were served. Mrs. Bates was able to be present, and helped to swell the proceeds by the sale souvenir post cards.

Two games were played in the school gymnasium last evening before one of the largest crowds yet seen there and both contests were close and of exciting interest. The first was between the girls composed of the Y. W. C. A. and O. S. S. D. It was won by the latter 29 to 21. The second was played by the boys Dublin High School and O. S. S. D. and resulted in a victory for the latter. On Wednesday the first team (Boys) went to West Milton and had a game with the High School team there. They lost 64 to 22. The second team played here with the St. Patricks and came out ahead, 28 to 17.

Mrs. Ivor Bashor, of Miami County, came down Wednesday and was the guest of Mrs. Eva Mathews. Her former schoolmates were all glad to meet her again during the entertainment in the evening.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

Quite a large crowd turned out to enjoy the Mask Ball at Flynn's Hall on the evening of February 21st. A number of uniqeu and original costumes were exhibited and a general good time was had by all. The prize winners were as follows: Most original costumes, Mr. Pfunder, "Farmer," and Mrs. Souder, "Japanese Lady." Most comical costumes, Mr. Dowell, "Dude" and Mrs. Marshall, "Dutchwoman."

Rev. J. W. Michaels, Missionary to the Deaf of the South, preached to a large audience at Calvary Baptist Church, Sunday evening, Feb. 19th. Mrs. Michaels and her youngest daughter are now living on Eighth Street northeast, near Kendall Green. They will remain in Washington until late in June or perhaps longer.

Our sympathy goes out to Mr. J. W. Hayes, of the Census Bureau, who was recently suddenly stricken with appendicitis and had to be removed to Sibley Hospital, where a surgical operation was later performed on him. The operation seems to have been entirely successful, and at this writing Mr. Hayes is considered to be out of danger and is rapidly gaining strength.

Mr. Simon Mundheim, a former Washingtonian, but now a resident of New York City, has been spending a week or so with relatives and friends in the Capital City.

Harold Partington, a hearing son of Mr. Chas. Partington, of Chester, Pa., was in town for a few days on business. He represents a large Philadelphia firm of linoleum manufacturers.

Mrs. John T. Flood, who went to her old home in Missouri last December to be present at the funeral of her father, returned home the 21st of February.

The next entertainment and social of the Calvary Bible Club will be held at the usual place on the evening of March 15th. A rare treat is in store for all who attend. Mrs. George Otis Smith, wife of the well known Government official will give a lecture on the "Passion Play," as it is enacted in Oberammergau, the village of its origin. No admission fee will be charged and every body is cordially invited to attend.

Prof. Bryant delivered a most interesting sermon to an appreciative audience at Calvary Baptist Church Sunday evening, February 26th. His subject was "Heathen Worship," and with drawings and illustrations together with his clear delivery and knowledge of his subject, made it one of the the finest discourses ever delivered before a congregation of deaf people in Washington.

Mr. Isaac H. Benedict had the misfortune to catch a severe cold awhile ago, which for a time threatened to develop serious complications. We hope that he will soon regain his wonted strength, and be able to get out of doors and enjoy the bright sunshine with which Washington is being blessed just now.

Through the influence of Mr. and Mrs. Bryant, Miss Littleford has secured a position in the Boston House, Washington's largest department store. Miss Margaret Hanberg is also employed in this store.

OCCASIONAL.

DIED—At his home in Brooklyn, February 24th, Mr. D. Wollmann, father of Mrs. Hannah Vetterlein and Julius Wollmann, in his 80th year. Funeral was held last Sunday.

HARTFORD

Miss Lucy Williams, for some years a hearing teacher at the school, but now retired, has sold her home on Broad Street to the city, that an addition to the Hartford Public High School may be built. Miss Williams will move this Spring, into a house on Gerard Avenue off from Farmington Ave.

Mrs. Martha Slocum, who has been stopping at her son's home, City Treasurer Chas. T. Slocum, has returned to Windsor.

Prof. Wm. H. Weeks recently met with an accident. He fell while in his house and broke a rib. He was out of school, however, less than a week.

Two of the girls at the school were coasting on a ripper last Thursday, February 23d, with a party of hearing young folks, and were thrown off and quite severely injured.

Among others who were in Hartford, Sunday, February 19th, were Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Hine, of Waterbury.

Miss Amelia A. Pease was in New Britain, Friday, February 17th, to call on Mrs. Julia Averill, a friend of many years standing.

Several of our deaf have recently been bereaved of that best of all human friends and loved ones—a good mother. Mrs. Geo. E. Strout, of East Hartford, her mother, who had been long ill, died February 9th. Mrs. Royden, of Milford, Ct., mother of Chauncy R. Royden and Sadie Royden, died about the same date. And some time the last of January, Mr. Isaac Beach, of Brantford, lost by death his aged mother.

The Hartford papers, not long since, contained a brief court item that a brother of the late Charles Dougherty was contesting certain property rights left to the widow. No decision in the matter was announced.

Morris Marks has been in New York City, and was employed at his trade there as a painter. Illness in his family called him home. He now has work as painter here in Hartford.

Mrs. Julia A. C. Averill, of New Britain, celebrated in a quiet way her eighty-seventh birthday, February 24th, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bringhurst. Another daughter from New Jersey was present with her. Friends called, and flowers and gifts were presented. Mrs. Averill's brother, Mr. Daniel Cooper, of New Haven, a hearing man, ninety years of age, sent a letter of congratulations. Mrs Averill was born in 1823, when every body, in the United States, was talking about Andrew Jackson and John Quincy Adams very much as they are now talking of President Taft and Mr. Roosevelt. She came to the school in Hartford from North Haven by stage coach, the journey taking about nine hours if the roads were good, otherwise the trip that is now made by train in an hour, might take all day and all night too. Her teachers were the elder Gallaudet and L. Clerc. Mrs. Averill has signs in her vocabulary that her teachers brought from France, unabridged and unchanged, some of which are quite different from those now in use. For instance, sign the word for cousin: Index fingers side by side, then make a circle with them outward from the body and horizontal.

Mr. E. W. Frisbee, a lay-reader, of Trinity Church Parish, Boston, Mass., will preach at the Mission services in Hartford, Ash Wednesday, March 1st; Waterbury, March 2d; and Bridgeport, March 3d. In each place at 8 P.M.

The Cogswell Literary Society will meet at 15 Church Street, Thursday evening, March 16th. Mr. E. C. Luther plans to read selections from Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables," especially the opening chapters of the book about the Bishop D, and his treatment of Jean Valjean, the noblest portrayal of goodness dealing with hardness ever penned by man outside the narratives of the Gospels.

The boys at the school have been having some good basket-ball this winter. To date they have won five games and lost two. On Saturday afternoon, February 18th, they played the South Manchester High School Five and lost the game, 21 to 23. Saturday evening, February 25th, they played a fierce game with a five called the Horse Guards, and flually won score 16 to 19. The players on the first school five are Mayville, Matekaitis, Weis, Diot, and Cossett.

The Benevolent Society had their annual social and masque here in Hartford, Friday evening, February 17th. Some three hundred were reported present, but of bona fide deaf-mute folks present the writer actually counted less than eighty. However we have been assured that there were more present than that number. A large number of friends and relatives of the deaf were present and helped to make the occasion most successful. Personally we wish such gay events might be arranged for other nights in the week than Friday night. For to some of us Fridays have a different significance than that pertaining to gay social events.

The masques of the ladies were all in good taste, but the make-up of some of the young men were in one or two cases a bit coarse. Of course, we all know that it is not necessary to be coarse to be funny. The most cleverly concealed masque was Mrs. Blanchard, whom it was very difficult to indentify, and the most striking of the men, Mr. Wenk, of Meriden, who was very handsomely costumed in the knee breeches, long embroidered coat, low buckle shoes and white powdered hair and three-cornered hat of our Revolutionary forefathers days. Among others who were cleverly masqued were: Messrs. Luther and Blanchard, Misses, Atkinson, Hall, Pfurr and Scott. There were others whose names we do not recall.

One of the interesting features to some of us was the real grace of the dancing. It is an astonishing thing that deaf-mutes can dance so well, keeping step correctly to the music as certain hearing friends assured us they did.

Most of these present came from Hartford, New Britain, Meriden and neighboring vicinities. The deaf west of New Haven are more and more attending social events in and about New York City. Among those present from out of town were H. R. Erbe, John Sodlaski, and Will O'Connell, of Waterbury; Fred Gagnier and Miss Emma Scott, of Winsted; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bierlies, Otto Wenk, Wm. Wenk, Misses Julia Gunther, Florence Perry, Rilla Cossett, Eva Lanoue, Meriden; Mr. and Mrs. Perreaux and Miss Kate Walsh, of New Britain; A. A. Stevenson, of New Haven; Miss Jennie Wallin, of Bridgeport; Mr. C. R. Royden and sister, Miss Sadie Royden, of Milford.

The committee in charge of the masque, Messrs. Crowley, Barrows, Rock, Parreaux, Oxley, Luther and others, worked early and late to make the occasion enjoyable.

Prof. W. G. Jones, of Fanwood Institute, again delightfully entertained us here in Hartford, Saturday evening, February 18, reading the play "The County Fair," in his own clever and inimitable way.

Mrs. Harriet G. Wheeler, of New Haven, has gone to Derby, Ct., to stay for a month or more, during absence of her niece, Mrs. Holmes, in Boston, Mass., Mrs. Wheeler will stop with an adopted sister, Mrs. Morgan, whose home is Mt. Pleasant Avenue, East Derby.

More about the Comedy of Errors

EDITOR JOURNAL:—I have read the article relatives to the Clipping Bureau which came out in your JOURNAL recently over the signature of President Hanson. He fails to state that he asked me if I would accept a position on the Board of Publicity; this letter came after Mr. Regensburg had sent a clipping about the Bureau to Mr. Hanson, so we took it for granted that the clipping work would be my duty. Mr. Regensburg had prepared a motion to have the Clipping Bureau legalized by the Executive Committee. Unfortunately, I destroyed the letter from Mr. Hanson, else I would publish it and end all doubt on that score. It is true that I mentioned my eyes as one reason for my resignation, the trouble it was causing being the other. The matter of my eyes was a very personal matter, and I am surprised that he, the highest official, should make it public, a gross breach of official etiquette. It is unmanly to state that a physical defect should be allowed to stand in the way of duty, and while in my case it is a serious one, still I made no complaint of it publicly. I was doing for Mr. Hanson work which I felt would help his administration, and the way he stedfastly ignored it and slighted it was unbecoming his office. In short, he kicked out one who was supporting him. I did not write him a "sharp" letter, as he says I did. I wrote a courteous letter long after sending in the bill, asking him if he had taken any steps toward having it paid, and why it was delayed so long.

I have been asked repeatedly by prominent deaf persons to resume the work I had started, and I may consider it. Should I give it further attention, I will first publish an outline of my scheme, and state what results I aim for.

Grip Makes a Mute Speak

EPHRATA, PA., Feb. 18.—Miss Lizzie Grant, 67 years old, lost her voice 33 years ago and could not in all these years speak above a whisper. Last week she was attacked with the grip, and upon her recovery was surprised at regaining the full use of her voice. It was the first time since 1878 that she heard her voice.

ST. LOUIS

G. W. Clark had a close call, one evening, in going home from work at the Pullman Car Shops, of being struck by an autombile. He was standing at a street corner waiting for a car, when all of a sudden an autombile running at high speed dashed up near him. He stepped backwards just in the nick of time.

G. W. Trapp, employed in a large biscuit factory down town, was on the idle list for several days last week. A painful boil on his wrist of his right arm was the cause of his absence from work.

On Wednesday, February 15th, occurred the marriage of two well-known deaf-mutes of this city. The affair created a general surprise, as it turned out to be strictly private. The contracting parties were Hubert Mallhew and Miss Emma Girardi. We understand that Rev. J. H. Cloud tied the knot. Further particulars in our next letter.

The following is taken from the St. Louis Republic:—

"Recently the Appropriating Committee selected by the last Legislature decided to allow $213,000.00 for the maintenance and support of the School for the Deaf, at Fulton, Mo. The amount is for the next two years. The above sum is the second largest appropriation of all the various State Institutions and Hospitals that receive support from the State. The Penitentiary at Jefferson City is allowed $289,000.00, being the largest appropriation on the list.

"The Institution is given $213,500, of which $10,000 is to be used for the erection of a cottage for the exclusive use of Supt. N. B. McKee, who has been in charge of this school for fifteen years, and has never been given a home such as the Superintendents of other schools have.

"'The State should show its appreciation of such a man,' said one member of the Committee, 'and we at least, can furnish him with such a home.'"

Mrs. Ida Klegmann, who married a hearing fellow several years ago, has hopes of getting a divorce in the near future. We understand that she has another "catch" on her string.

One night last week, while Miss Esther Silver was visiting Mr. and Mrs. Berwin a fire broke out in the Silver household. It was only after Miss Silver returned home, that she learned of the fact. The dwelling was not damaged much, but the furniture and other effects were badly ruined by the flames and smoke. The cause of the fire is a mystery.

Robert McFarland, who departed several weeks ago for Chicago, Ill., where he hoped to better his fortunes, returned last week. He says there is no place so good to live in as dear old St. Louis.

On Wednesday evening, February 22d, an oyster supper was given in the basement of the Schuyler Memorial House for the benefit of the Home Fund. An appreciative crowd turned out, and the committee reported that a good profit was realized from the proceeds of the supper.

A guessing game was played during the evening, after which two persons became winners. They were Miss Flaskamper and Mr. A. Brockmann. The committee having charge, were Mesdames Berwin Hammer and Eubanks.

Mrs. Laura Powers received notice from her old friend Mrs. Julia Miller (nee Morrison) of Chicago Ill., to the effect that the latter has become the proud mother of a fine and bouncing boy-baby.

E. J. McCormac who has a wife and three bright and growing children depending on him for support, has been out of work for two weeks.

A certain man, aged over fifty years, residing on South Broadway, had his tongue burned out of his month at the City Hospital. It was performed by the doctors there, in order to prevent the spread of cancer. He is recovering from the operation, although he will never be able to talk orally the balance of his life. At present he is able to make himself understood by signs and by uttering gutteral sounds. The cancer was caused by excessive smoking.

The seventeen months old darling daughter and future heiress of Mr. and Mrs. Blevins has been missing from the family fireside one full week. The girl who is a great favorite with her aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. Bennett, feels as much at home in the one place as she does in the other.

Rev. J. H. Cloud recently announced that the Illinois Reunion and the State Association of the Deaf have been invited to hold joint meetings at the School for the Deaf in Jacksonville, Ill. The reunion of both associations will be held there four days—viz., June 16, 17, 18 and 19, 1911

Harry McCamley, who has been ill during the past several weeks is fast regaining his usual health, and will be among his friends again soon.

Mrs. May Lines, of New Bloomfield, Mo. (sister of H. N. Bennett), has been in this city one week, visiting friends and relatives.

Mrs. Edith Jones (nee Reddick), wife of Roy Jones, has gone back to live under the parental roof, on the old homestead, near Bloomfield, Mo. She has the care of her daughter. The whereabouts of her husband are unknown to her, as he deserted her soon after marriage.

Mrs. W. H. Lang, of Fulton, Mo., has been in this city about one month undergoing treatment for her eyesight. Her daughter, Miss Lang, is one of the teachers in the local Gallaudet Day School for the Deaf.

The Ladies' Home Fund Society gave an euchre party at Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Burgherr's house, Saturday evening, February 18th. The admission to the party (including refreshments), were charged for the benefit of the Home Fund. The refreshments were very fine.

Hammer, Stocksick, Molloy, Roper, Fadem, Steideman, Getter, Lythgoe, Krueger.

BOSTON

"The Fourth Annual Ball and Fancy Dress Party, by the Horace Mann Benevolent Association," was on the night of February 21, in the Horticultural Hall, Massachusetts Avenue. Like the previous gatherings it was magnificent success, and to say an enjoyable occasion for all present is placing it mild. There were about 250 persons present divided equally into three groups—the Oralists, the Combinedists, and the hearings friends of both. Among the distinguished persons present were Miss Sarah Fuller, (whom majority like to refer to as "the mother of us all,") the Faculty and Directors of the Horace Mann School for the Deaf, and others.

All creeds for the time being were suspended and the guests formed a conglomeration in which it was almost impossible to tell the which, the what, or the wherefor, for which any one stood save a good time in matual friendship. The programe opened with a musical concert from eight to nine, during which Prof. Breton Jennings performed some feats in the Magical arts that have the people still guessing. He also gave a very intertaining exhibition in shadowgraph. Dancing was from nine to two. The prizes for costumers were very artistic and valuable and were warded as follows:—

Second Costume—Mrs. E. A. Wellington, as Columbia. Brush and comb.
Best Dressed Gentleman—Mr. Clinton Bowditch, as Gen. Washington. Prize, thermometer.

FANWOOD.

Appropriate exercises to commemorate the one hundred and seventy-ninth anniversary of the birth of George Washington were held in the chapel last Wednesday morning. As usual at such gatherings, the program was headed by the colors being brought to the platform, all standing. Principal Currier, who presided throughout the the exercises, then spoke shortly on the day, and why it is honored all over the United States. Two of the Cadet Officers, who were needed in the Art Department during the exercises, were then asked to the platform, each delivering a neat speech before leaving. They were followed by the Band which rendered "When the Cruel War is Over."

Prof. Bjorlee, who answered to "Next," then spoke of the need of men like Washington to lead the country—not in war, but in the nobler pursuit of Peace. "The Vacant Chair" was then given by the Band. Prof. Thomason followed, speaking of Washington's wealth, which we hear very little about, the character of the man being above mere pecuniary interest. Mr. La Crosse, who called Washington "a man of patience," came next. He gave a few rules from a book on deportment by Washington. One of the rules was to be brief in conversation, so the Professor took the hint and retired in favor of Prof. Best, who said that the height and purity of color of the Washington Monument were symbolic of the greatness and character of the "Father of His Country." The dulcet strains of "Dixie" were then played to the appreciative assemblage.

The Cadet Officers were at this point resorted to, and three of them by turns made a Chesterfieldian bow, spoke high, wide and handsome of Washington, and withdrew amid applause, giving way to Mr. Burdick, who exhibited a jar filled with small stones taken from the fortifications at Valley Forge, at the same time speaking of certain incidents connected with that place. After allowing the assemblage's awed gaze to remain fixed on his jar for a proper length of time, Mr. Burdick retired, just as the opening bars of "Sherman's March" reverberated through the chapel.

When the last echo had died away, the first of the remaining octet of Cadet Officers made his presence on the platform known by a short but interesting speech. The rest followed in rapid-fire manner. Upon the last one concluding, the roar of the "Thunder March" rumbled through the chapel, the assemblage standing and relieving themselves in the meantime of the weariness caused by such a long sojourn on the chapel chairs.

Some of the young ladies emulated the masculine orators by coming on the platform. At first they came singly, but afterwards they came in triple, quadruple or octuple formation, representing the classes of Misses Greene, Smith, Burchard and Buckingham and some others. Alternating these, the Band gave "My Old Kentucky Home," "Hail Columbia," and finally the "Spring Song." Miss Barrager and two of her deaf-blind pupils were the last but not least personalities to speak on the list of exercises.

The significance of the day having been fittingly impressed, the Lord's Prayer was said, and the pupils—filled to the brim with Washington stories and biography—filed out, the Band playing "Onward, Christian Soldiers."

At dinner, bricks of ice-cream were served for dessert. The spectacle of the small boy or girl patiently waiting for his or her brick—having foregone everything else—was pretty well in evidence, while the larger pupils, firm believers in "what will come, will come," ate with their usual appetite.

The afternoon made "Washington's Day" also "Deaf-Mutes' Day"—to we Fanwoodites at least. Thanks to the labors of our excellent Physical Director, Dr. Seikel, three hearing basket-ball teams—two of them ex-champions of Public Schools—came to paint our teams off the slate, but somehow the whitewash bucket was set at the wrong angle and the kind intentions of the hearing boys resulted in their downfall. However, every one of them gave us a fine game, such playing being seldom seen on the floor of our gymnasium.

The first game was between the Fanwood Five and the Acme A. C. During the practicing, the Acme looked like a sure winner, but, from the call of time to the end of the game, the passing, guarding and caging of the ball by the members of the Fanwood team kept them far in the rear. It would be unfair to speak individually of any member of the winning quintet, all acting as one, and one as all, in gaining the victory: General summary:

FANWOOD	Pos	ACME A. C.
Kabanovitch	r. f.	Freidel
Nimmo	l. f.	Polly
Dennan	c.	Solomon
Foland	l. g.	Chasem
Camman	r. g.	Weiner

Goals from field—Kabanovitch, 6; Nimmo, 5; Dennan, 9; Foland, 1; Polly, 2; Solomon, 2; Chasem, 1; Weiner, 2. Goals from fouls—Dennan, 1; Foland, 1; Weiner, 2. Time of halves—Forty minutes. Umpire—Dr. Siekel. Timekeeper — Mr. Margraf. Scorer — M. Elowitz. Mascot — Tolk, of Acme A. C.

The team due to play the Ariel did not show up till late in the afternoon, so the game between the Lincoln D. M. and the Jersey Five was then called. The hearing boys played well and died hard, but the long practice and quick work of the Lincolns outclassed them from the start. The best shooting was seen on the Jersey Five's part but the passing and general team work of the Lincoln were superior. The data boiled down:—

LINCOLN	Pos	JERSEY
Garrison	r. f.	Brown
Moster	l. f.	Siekel
Drake	c.	Drosch
Goldstein, B.	l. g.	Winters
Werher	r. g.	Bishop

Goal from field:—Moster, 12, Garrison, 2; Drake, 1; Brown, 3. Goal from foul: Drake, 2, Brown, 4. Time of halves—Forty minutes Umpire—Dr. Siekel. Timekeeper—Mr. Margraf. Scorer—M. Elowitz. Mascot—J. Goffin of Lincoln D. M.

The last and probably most fiercely fought game of the afternoon (witness the score) was the Ariel-Freeler struggle. The Freelers rolled up point after point in the first half of the game, but slowly, like a grim Nemesis, the Ariel came on, and a final shoot by Kabanovitch won the game just as time was called. The line-up, etc:—

ARIEL	Pos	FREELER A. C.
Blechner	r. f.	Weiss
Kadel	l. f.	Freitzag
Kabanovitch	c.	Eltenberz
Quinn	l. g.	Spron
Dirkes	r. g.	Feldman

Goals from field:—Blechner, 2; Kabanovitch, 7; Weiss, 2; Freitzag, 2; Eltenberz, 2; Spron, 2; Feldman, 2. Goals from fouls:—Blechner, 2; Kadel, 1. Time of halves:—Thirty-five minutes. Umpire:—Dr. Siekel. Scorer — M. Elowitz. Timekeeper — Mr. Margraf.

Each of the teams had a mascot, the Acmes having a young "rooter" while the mascots of the Jersey and Freeler teams lined the walls of the gymnasium. The Fanwood Five and the Ariel Quintet each held to the Proteans' goldfish as their "fetish". The goldfish were to have been brought up in the gymnasium so that their followers might gather added strength from their shrine, but when such a course was suggested to Curator Wiemuth, he filled the air with emphatic negatives. Subsequent questioning resulted in the elucidation of the fact that the goldfish were suffering from an attack of nervousness, brought on by the stirring doings of late in the Proteans' room, and that Curator Wiemuth feared that added excitement might strain their minds and result in their untimely demise. So heartrending were his protestations that the request was withdrawn.

The moving pictures given by Principal Currier (cheers) in the evening were most interesting, and by far better than any endeavors in this line before. Six reels were shown, every one a jewel of it's kind.

When all retired for the night, the unanimous opinion was that Washington's Birthday had been celebrated in a style fit to make a pageant in honor of a king try to hide itself and die of envy.

A creditable program, below appended, was presented last Saturday before the Fanwood Literary Association by the Fourth Grade A. This was the first appearance on the platform of the class, and that considered, they did finely. Only one case of stage-fright was apparent, but the victim held on and accredited himself nobly at the end. The debate was hotly contested on both sides, the negative side, however, being awarded the crown of victory by the narrow margin of two points.

The class concluding, Dr. Fox gave the interesting news of the week, after which the meeting adjourned. The program:

READING—"Androcles and the Lion," by Cadet John Breden.

READING—"An Englishman's Love," by Cadet M. Rubin.

READING—"John Stark and the Indians," by Cadet M. Ciavolino.

DEBATE—"Resolved, That more pleasure is derived from summer sports than from winter sports." Affirmative—by Cadets M. Schnapp, and J. Schutz; Negative—by Cadets C. Golden, and J. Zwicker.

READING—"Captain John Smith and Pocahontas," by Cadet Harry Rothstein.

READING—"An Arabian Horse," by Cadet Issy Blum.

READING—"The Boys and the Frogs," by Cadet Charlie Phillips.

READING—"A Hunter Robbed by a Bear," by Cadet M. Berman.

The weather at present is mild, and baseball talk is beginning to penetrate into the Fanwoodites' other items of interest. No baseball meeting has yet been held, but will in the near future.

Mr. Edward Clearwater, Instructor in Carpentering, has been absent for about two weeks, being ill with pneumonia at his New Jersey home.

Photographing has again become a fad among Fanwoodites. The busy snap of shutters is more often seen now-a-days than was seen in all previous years put together. A nearby photographic store has a great influence in adding to the list of followers of the dry-plate or film cartridge.

Prof. Jones conducted the Sunday morning services with especial fluency; while in the afternoon Prof. Bjorlee overdid any previous sermonical achievement.

George Washington Memorial Association.

The American people have not yet put into concrete expression the predominating passion of George Washington. With the wisdom which is his greatness, Washington comprehended what is most essential in the development and perpetuation of a Nation's life.

In his first message to Congress January 8, 1790, he said: "I am persuaded that there is nothing which can better deserve your patronage than the promotion of science and literature. Knowledge is in every country the surest basis of public happiness" In a message to the Se ate in 1796 he said: "The assembly to which I addressed myself is too englightened not to be fully sensible how much a flourishing state of the arts and sciences contributes to national prosperity and reputation." And in his farewell address Washington said: "Promote, then as an object of primary importance institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge In proportion as the structure of a government gives force to public opinion, it is essential that public opinion should be enlightened,"

The object of the Association is to erect a building, to be known as the "George Washington Memorial Building," to perpetuate Washington's principles as thus expressed.

The Memorial Building is to be practical in plan and construction and of the most durable character. It is to be planned so as to furnish a home and gathering place for National, Patriotic, Scentific Educational, Literary, Art, Medical, and similar organizations that may need such accommodations. It will furnish a place where all the Patriotic Societies, both north and south, may testify to their love for the father of his country. The building will contain a great auditorium and rooms for large and small meetings, office rooms and students' research rooms.

One wing of the structure will be devoted to the interests of children, and it is hoped that that part will be provided for entirely by subscriptions from the youth of our land. It is not possible to estimate the influence on all child welfare work which will go out from such an institution. The lines of the splendid one made in New York at the beginning of this year, as a permanent inspiration and enlightemment to visitors from every quarter of the globe. There will be accommodations for assembling children en masse for many purposes, and for the accumulation of the results of experimental work everywhere, for reference and display. Other wings or parts of the building may be devoted to special subjects in a similar way upon conditions that can be arranged; always subservient to the primary purpose of the Memorial Building.

The Association proposes to raise two million dollars for the building and an additional five hundred thousand as an endowment for maintenance.

Two years ago this Association was reorganized; later, preparations were begun for a thorough presentation of its purposes to the public, as experience proves that it requires time in which to acquaint the popular mind with any cause, however attractive. The Association has, there fore, decided upon a year's canpaign, in order to afford every one an opportunity to have a part in the Memorial.

Subscriptions in any amount are invited from individuals, institutions and organizations. The latter are urged to take official cognizance of the movement and to arrange for representative subscriptions. Especially important subsciptions will entitle the donor to name part of the building "IN MEMORIAM." Remittances should be to the order of Mrs. Henry F. Dimock, president, 25 East 60th Street, New York. All money received for this purpose is deposited with the Trustee of the Permanent Fund, and is not subject to any other use. The association has its independent treasury supported by membership dues: $5 for the first year and $2 annually thereafter, and $100 for life membership. Individuals of standing are invited to apply for membership.

Washington City.

Not long ago, while Mr. John W. Blaine was at work, he was struck across the face by a board. Fortunately no serious injury resulted, but Mr. Blaine's facial beauty was temporarily impaired by a black eye and a damaged nose. Next time a board is going to fall, our friend would rather not be in the way.

On the 17th instant Mr. W. E. Marshall, like Napoleon in search of other victories, journeyed to Baltimore, where he told the members of Grace Episcopal Mission about the Little Corporal. For further particulars see the Baltimore letter.

Mr. William Hayes was recently taken seriously ill and went to the Sibley Memorial Hospital, where his trouble was diagnosed as appendicitis. On the 14th instant an operation was performed, and at the present writing Mr. Hayes is doing nicely and will probably soon be able to leave the hospital.

The October-December number of the Industrial Journal has this to say of Mr. Hayes:

"William J. Hayes, of Hazlewood, Pa., is said to possess an accomplishment which deafness would ordinarily appear to be a bar. He is an expert piano player, and to hear him manipulate the keys is a rare test. He is alse an experienced book keeper, a painter, and a litterateur. He became deaf at the age of five, but is able to articulate with great clearness."

We regret that the Industrial Journal has suspended publication, apparently indefinitely. It was a clean, ably edited paper.

Mrs. Warnicke, of Baltimore, was a visitor here recently.

Mrs. John W. Michaels and her younger daughter have taken up their residence on Eighth Street N. E., near Kendall Green. Mrs. Michaels elder daughter is a Normal student at the College.

The indications are that Pantomime Play and Oyster Supper to given by the St. Barnabas Mission to the Deaf on the 25th instant will be a decided success.

Rev. Mr. Abbott, the vicar of the Church of the Good Shepherd, in which the Mission's services are held, is very much interested in the deaf. His assistant was recently called to another church, leaving Mr. Abbott to look after the affairs of three chapels.

Mr. Frank Stewart, after being out of work for some time, has secured employment with Mr. Harry Wardman, the well-known contractor and builder.

The Gallaudet Memorial.

It is proposed to create a memorial to the late Rev. Thomas Gallaudet, D.D., by the erection of a Parish Building for St. Ann's Church for Deaf-Mutes. The present Church is situated on 148th Street, just west of Amsterdam Avenue, and is built some twenty-five feet back from the line of the street to permit the erection of such a building as above indicated, which will form a facade to the church edifice and be a center of religious and social life amongst the silent peoples. Dr. Gallaudet hoped during his lifetime to see the erection of this building, which would have completed the church with which his name has always been associated. This was not permitted, and it is suggested as a most fitting memorial to him that this work be now undertaken. St. Ann's Church is used wholly for the deaf-mutes.

The new building will occupy a plot of ground about forty-five feet along the street front and twenty-five feet in depth. It will be three stories in height, with a basement, and will be used for the social, religious and industrial needs of the deaf-mutes of New York. The amount required for "The Gallaudet Memorial Parish Building" will be about $30,000, and the building itself, in its position and purpose, will form a conspicuous monument to him whose life was devoted to the silent peoples. They themselves heartily endorse the memorial.
